SUPREME COURT, IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION. (Before His Honour Sir John Carrington, Chief Justice.) Friday, May 27,

V. P. MUSSI DI PERALTA AND OTHERS

His Lordship delivered judgment in this case, stating the facts upon which the questions to be determined arose as follows. the plaintiffs are the sons of the defendant by her deceased husband Domenico Musso. who was formerly Consul for Italy in the Colony. The defendant was married to him in Italy in the year 1872, and at that time she and Mr Musso were Italian sul justs domicifed in Italy They continued to live together as husband and wife, and their domicile remained the same until the date of Mr Musse's death. In 1885 Mr. Musso became possessed of certain lease-Marino Lot No. 188 and the Remaining beamcared completes anything that is wantspective residues of the several terms of ed by the Crown leases of the lots respectively. On 28th January, 1895, Mr Musso executed an indenture in consideration wife, assigning these parcels of crown land and the messuages, erections and memorial was not registered in the Land be heard in the city and along the river Office. On the same date the defendant banks. As the Mo Sz moves up and down, executed a power of attorney by which, after recital that she was possessed of certain leasehold property, she appointed her husband Domenico Musso her attorney with full power of sate, otc., in relation to the leasehold properties mentioned in the deed. leasehold properties referred to until the great need for Canton is an abundant suptime of his death, at the same time paying the Crown rents theroug and receiving the contended that his possession was that of a trustee. Mr Musso died on 16th December, 1896, and it was agreed between the parties that as regards the leasehold proporties in question he died intestate. A few days after his death the memorial of registration above mentioned was registered by the plaintiff. On the death of her husband the defendant entered into possession of the properties, and she had since received the rents thereof. Apparently also she had paid the Crown rents and performed dead bodies of men and animals, and espethe other covenants entertained in the deed. The plaintiffs, as next of kin of Domenico Music, applied to the Court for a declaration that the deed is null and void is no wonder that there is plague—the and that the properties purporting to be assigned thereby form part of the estate. or, They also asked for an account of the rents and profits received by the defendant, and disinfecting power of sunshine and air for payment by her to the estate of what may be found due on the taking of such account. His Lordship thought it was clear play in the match are requested to notify that the defendant's contention that the case the Hon. Secretary at the Hongkong Club was governed by English and not by Italian to that effect to-morrow, in order to arrange | law of real property was well founded and must provail. His Lordship dealt at some play and results must be finished on Fri- length with cases which related to the day, 3rd June. From the Singapore Free Press, I learn that Java has now a cheas column odited by M. F. Onnen, and containing problems games and chess notes relating to the doings of the Concordia and Batavia Chess Clubs. This seems to be the seventh in the For East, and I trust it will prosper. No copy of it has reached me yet, but hasten to waive formality and bid Mr Unnen welcome to the fraternity of the world's best benefactors, those that teach it chess.

I have just received a copy of the new edition of Mason's Art of Chess (London:-Horace Cox), and find that it amply justified the author's claim for it, as being practical probable, reliable and recent. In form i is little more than a reproduction of the former work, but in substance the alterations and additions are extensive No pains have been spared to make the book full and complete as an exposition of the art of play. The order is the one to which Mr Mason has accustomed us-first the ending, their the middle game, and last as. Our own manufacture are the best Pianos of least importance the opening. The 420 for this climate, warranted to stand anypages are fairly equally divided among these three, and all illustrated by specimens taken from actual play of the highest order, fully emploised and annotated.

I had a bad taste in the My friend Brown is an expert club mouth, and frequently fort sick and prostrate player, and when recently ruralising amid had no relish tor food, and, after saring, had the bumpkins was delighted to find a pain at the chest and sine. Such was my man: simple, innocent couple who realised his ideal of Darby and Joan, and who, 'pour surcroit do bonhour, 'netually played chess. Brown submitted that the Royal game was digested. Since that time I have felt quite a great resource in a quiet hamlet like Daisy Knoll, and Darby declared that a pity for me that I didn't know of Seigel's neither he nor Joan could possibly live

. And when we are tired of playing; or when one is indisposed to play, we have problem-solving to fall back on, said Joan. Ah ! said Brown, more and more interested, 'I perceive that you cultivate both branches of the noble art.'

'Yes, indeed,' said Darby, 'and what could be more interesting than the solution of a good first-prize three-mover !" 'Nothing,' assented Brown. 'But don't
